Walter Kurth Of Lake Milton Dies In Crash

Victim's Car Hits
Tree; Four Injured
In Other Mishaps

Walter Kurth, 43, of Normandy Drive, RD 1, Lake Milton, was killed at 2:45 a.m. Sunday when his car left Rt. 18 and crashed into a tree about two miles west of North Jackson. Eight other accidents on area highways over the weekend brought injuries to four persons.

Kurth, a mechanic foreman at the Republic Steel Corp. plant in Youngstown, was alone in the car which drifted off the right side of Rt. 18 and struck a tree. The Ohio Highway Patrol said there were no skid marks, road conditions were good and there were no mechanical defects in the 1961 Studebaker. They estimated the speed at about 50 miles an hour.

Wife Discovers Body

Kurth's wife, Frances, discovered the body. She told the Patrol that she left a friend's home at Lake Milton in her own car about 10 minutes after her husband because there was ice on her windshield. Mr. Kurth had driven to the friend's home after work, while Mrs. Kurth had driven there from home.

The victim was dead on arrival at Youngstown South Side Hospital. He suffered a fractured skull and other injuries.

Kurth had lived at Lake Milton for the past five years, moving there from Youngstown. He formerly lived in Escanaba, Mich. He was an Army veteran of World War II.

Surviving besides his wife are his mother, Mrs. Otto Kurth of Escanaba, three sisters and six brothers. All of the brothers and sisters, except Mrs. Margaret Closs of Austintown, live in Escanaba.

The body was removed from the Lane Funeral Home in Austintown to the Anderson Funeral Home in Escanaba where services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday. Burial will be in Escanaba.

Treated After Crash
A Youngstown woman was treated at East Liverpool City Hospital for a fractured right ankle suffered in a two-car accident on Rt. 7, about six miles south of Rogers, at 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

Hurt was Mrs. Helen Vegas, 50, who was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Anthony, 53. The Patrol said Mr. Vegas drove into the rear of a car operated by James A. Dickey, 19, of Columbiana, who was making a left turn into a private driveway.

Both drivers were arrested, Vegas for failing to stop within the assured clear distance and Dickey for making an improper left turn.

Arthur Berkheimer, Jr., 22, of East Liverpool, suffered lacerations of his right eye, knee and elbow when he lost control of his car on a curve on County Road 427 and crashed into an embankment about one half mile north of Rt. 7 near East Liverpool.

Berkheimer was treated at East Liverpool City Hospital. The accident occurred at 11:50 a.m. Sunday.

An Alliance woman was hurt in a two-car mishap on Rt. 62, about three miles east of Alliance, at 3:10 p.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Jane Binus, 42, was treated at Alliance City Hospital for a whiplash injury to her back. She was a passenger in a car operated by John Max Binus, 34, also of Alliance. According to the Patrol, Binus had stopped to make a left turn when his auto was struck from the rear by a car operated by Virginia Loudon, 36, of Campbell.

The Campbell woman was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Luther Griggs, 22, of Canton, received lacerations of the left knee and lip when his car struck a utility pole on Township Road 778, about one-half mile south of Alternate Rt. 14, near Washingtonville, at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Griggs told the Patrol that he was crowded off the road by another car. The utility pole was broken off. Griggs was treated by his family doctor.

Frank Trantor, 18, of East Liverpool, escaped injury at 9:20 p.m. Sunday when his south-bound car went out of control on a curve and struck a guard rail on Rt. 45, near West Point.

Sabin Polio Serum Arrives

Public Clinics Set
2 Days This Week

All is ready for the administration of the Sabin polio vaccine here and elsewhere in Columbiana County Wednesday and Saturday.

The serum, enough for 55,000 doses, was flown here Sunday from New York and prepared by doctors and pharmacists at City Hospital, the county distribution center.

School children will receive the Type One Sabin vaccine at the schools on Wednesday, but adults may avail themselves of the drug by visiting the Salem High School gymnasium where a clinic will be in operation between the hours of 1 and 7 p.m. both Wednesday and Saturday.

The immunization is being sponsored by the Columbiana County Medical Society, Dr. L. S. Pritchard of Columbiana, project chairman, said that a minimum goal of 65 per cent participation have hopes for near 100 per cent participation.

The Sabin vaccine is taken orally by drinking it in a small cup of water, unlike the Salk vaccine which had to be given by injection.

The Medical Society pointed out again today that all individuals should take the Sabin vaccine, regardless of whether they have received the Salk serum. The appeal is made especially to adults who frequently are classified as "polio carriers" and the new serum will help to cut down this "virus reservoir."

Optimist Club Will Meet Tuesday

O'Neill, district manager of Mutual of New York Life Ins. Co., is a Sunday School teacher at Youngstown Trinity Methodist Church. Wives of the members of the new Salem club are invited to the dinner.

SCHOOL BOARD TO MEET

LISBON — Routine monthly business will be transacted when the Columbiana County Board of Education meets Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in the county school offices at the Courthouse, according to James L. McBride, county school superintendent.

Jury May Get Murder Case Tuesday

Boyd Testimony Scheduled Today

William P. Boyd Jr. was slated to testify today in Lisbon as the climax of his first degree murder trial which may go to the jury Tuesday.

Boyd, 23, of East Liverpool was to take the witness stand to relate his version of the events of Nov. 5 when his 18-year-old estranged wife, Nancy Lee Chandler Boyd, was beaten then shot in the head along Beaver Creek near the state line.

More than 80 persons were packed into Courtroom No. 2 this morning as the trial moved through its sixth day before the panel of 10 women and two men. It began Monday before Judge Raymond Buzzard.

Testimony was delayed late this morning when a defense witness — Leroy Black of East Liverpool — failed to appear. He was summoned by telephone from the Crucible Steel Co. at Midland, Va., where he is employed.

Mrs. Mary Unger of Midland Heights was the first defense witness on the stand this morning, testifying about the Nov. 4 farewell party at the East Liverpool home of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Hager, which she and her husband and Boyd attended. Black also was among those at the fete.

She and her husband — Edward Unger who was the second witness this morning — told of the drinking done by the men at the party and the subsequent visit to Higgs Inn along Route 30.

Mrs. Unger said she and her husband declined to ride with Boyd on the trip "because he had been drinking."

Unger said there "had been quite a bit of drinking."

Unger said the group saw Nancy Lee at the bar at Higgs Inn, and when she spotted her husband, she said, "Hello there, Mr. Boyd." Unger said Boyd replied,

Cease-Fire Ends 7½ Year War

Algeria Truce Takes Effect

ALGIERS (AP)—The cease-fire in the Algerian war went into effect at the stroke of noon today, ending 7½ years of savage warfare between France and the Nationalist rebels.

Even as the cease-fire became official, the French army and police forces remained on the alert to combat the Secret Army Organization pledged to keep Algeria French.

The Algerian rebel premier, arriving in Rome en route from Tunis to Morocco, said the "cease-fire has not brought peace to Algeria."

"There are still enemies of peace there," said Premier Ben Youssef ben Khedda. He cited "groups whose interest it is to sabotage the peace," obviously referring to the secret army.

More bloodshed threatened before Algeria gains independence as the underground army of European settlers defiantly proclaimed: "Now the real fighting has begun."

As the first show of strength, the secret army called a general strike in Algeria's major cities for 24 hours and urged Europeans to remain indoors.

The walkout that went into effect at midnight crippled the capital city of Algiers but the French army was in tight control.

Jean Morin, French delegate general, appealed to both Europeans and Moslems to remain calm. He told the Europeans, "I know the solution (the cease-fire) is not the one you wanted but it is a solution of reality." He warned them against "a catastrophe of senseless resistance" and counseled the Moslem majority to show "patience and prudence in the weeks to come."

The strike call was to demonstrate that the million European settlers—only one-tenth of Algeria's population—control the country's economic life and can cripple it at will.

French President Charles de Gaulle, acknowledging there still were last obstacles to be cleared up, brushed off the terrorist threat. He appealed to the French people for support of the cease-fire even though it marks the end of the French empire.

The 7½-year-old French leader, who returned to power four years ago with the backing of former

French army officers now leading the fight against him in Algeria, declared in a nationwide broadcast Sunday night that he had achieved a "solution of good sense."

U.S. President Kennedy hailed the agreement as providing "a sound basis for a friendly and fruitful relationship between Algeria and France."

Other West European countries and neutralist nations showed a surge of relief after years of fear that the North African revolt would explode into an international conflict.

Remains Firm On Refusal of Inspections

Zorin Says Total
Disarmament Plan
Should Be Basis

GENEVA (AP) — The Soviet Union announced today it was ready to negotiate with the United States and Britain on a nuclear test ban treaty. But it stood firm against allowing international inspection teams on its soil.

The action opened new prospects of East-West talks on the deadlocked issue, although it did not resolve any of the differences blocking a treaty. If agreement can be reached on a test ban pact, President Kennedy has announced he will cancel next month's scheduled start on a new series of U.S. atmospheric tests, made by Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin at a news conference. His statement coincided with information from Western delegations that the United States and Britain have finally agreed on concessions to offer Russia in an effort to meet Soviet objections to international inspection.

The offer probably will be made Tuesday. It is understood that the Western powers would reduce the number of inspection teams which teams of international inspectors could make around the Soviet Union. Much Soviet territory also would be eliminated from any inspection area.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home returned to Geneva from weekend consultations in London with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. Allied diplomats said they believed Macmillan had been in touch with Kennedy on nailing down the concessions. Macmillan is said to be even more anxious than Kennedy to show that if the U.S. tests are held every possible effort was made to avoid them.

Zorin said the Soviet Union would like to negotiate here with the United States, Britain and France on a nuclear test ban. The great powers would form a subcommittee of the 17-nation disarmament conference.

Since France is boycotting the conference, Zorin said Russia was "also ready to continue negotiations" among the three powers. At the news conference, Zorin also:

1. Said the Soviet draft treaty for total disarmament by three stages in four years should be the basis for negotiations here, especially since, he said, the United States has not laid down a complete treaty proposal.

2. Rejected the proposal advanced by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk last week that Russia and the United States each transfer 50,000 kilograms of nuclear explosive material to a stockpile for peaceful uses. Zorin said that should be done only at a time when nuclear weapons came under a total ban.

3. Declared that national inspection systems for detecting nuclear explosions are sufficient to police a test ban treaty. This is the heart of the treaty dispute. The United States insists international inspectors must be admitted to the Soviet Union.

In the 17-nation conference itself, Canada made a new appeal for agreement on a pact to end nuclear weapons testing.

Foreign Secretary Howard C. Green of Canada called for an attempt to break the East-West deadlock over inspection, saying "such an effort must be made for otherwise the prospects of this conference itself could be gravely threatened."

New Turn Seen In Guatemala

Opposition Forces
Seek Army's Support

GUATEMALA (AP)—A decisive turn appeared imminent today in the week-long revolt against Guatemala's government as opposition leaders sought army support for a non-Communist front to replace embattled President Miguel Ydigoras.

Fearful the student-led uprising might lead to a Red coup, leaders of three major opposition parties tried to line up backing also from business, agricultural, educational and professional groups.

The government continued to broadcast claims it had the crisis under control, but a leading opposition figure told a reporter, "The situation is worsening by the minute."

"We believe the only way it can be saved is for Ydigoras to resign and be replaced by a civilian-military directorate which will hold free elections," he said.

The three parties which have formed an anti-Communist, anti-Ydigoras bloc are the National Liberation Movement, the Christian Democracy party and the Revolutionary party.

The attitude of the army is the key to the outcome of the crisis brought on when the students revolted last Tuesday.

Official radio broadcasts said the army is solidly behind the government and is ready to take strong steps to smash any further demonstrations.

At least 20 persons have been killed and more than 500 wounded since the revolt erupted in protest against alleged frauds in last December's elections which returned Ydigoras' Conservative party to power.

But Federal Takeover Ordered

Peronists Win In Argentine Election

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — President Arturo Frondizi today ordered federal control in all provinces where Peronists won in Sunday's nationwide congressional and provincial elections.

The president will name civilian or military leaders to head the government in the provinces where followers of Peron gave the president and his government a sharp setback in Sunday's election of provincial governors and some members of his congress.

Should the president continue federal control past May 1, when the officials elected Sunday are to take office, the action could have the effect of nullifying the results of the election.

Latest unofficial returns showed that followers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron won more than 30 seats in the national Congress and 10 governors' posts including that of Buenos Aires Province, which is second to the presidency in political power and prestige.

Frondizi acted at about 5 a.m. after Argentina's armed forces chiefs met with Interior Minister Alfredo Vitolo to consider whether to form a military junta to deal with the crisis.

The military chiefs called on Frondizi to intervene and demanded the resignation of Vitolo, who had mapped the strategy of Sunday's election. Vitolo reportedly already had submitted his resignation but government house sources said Frondizi had not decided whether to accept it.

Jubilant Peronists hailed the outcome as a recall for their exiled leader, but there was doubt the military, which threw Peron out in 1955, would permit his followers to regain control.

After the voting trend became clear, Frondizi's ruling Intransigent Radical party issued a warning that the Peronist victory could cause chaos in Argentina.

Peron was not present to taste the fruits of his victory. He was reported following the returns by telephone from exile in Madrid.

At midnight, the four-year-old state of siege, lifted for election day, went back into effect.

The biggest prize at stake—the governorship of populous Buenos Aires Province, site of Argentina's capital—went to Andres Framini, 47, labor leader who favors a hands-off policy toward Communist Cuba.

It seemed virtually certain that the president's party had lost its majority in the House of Deputies, a blow which would probably spell defeat for Frondizi's projects as he winds up the last two years of his six-year term.

The Peronist victory was seen as a sharp setback for President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress aid program for Latin America. Kennedy had singled out Argentina as a prime target for his program to bolster the Americas against the twin threats of Castroism and communism. Washington loaned Frondizi's regime $150 million only a few weeks ago to ease its economic ills.

Dillon Says U.S. Cannot Stand Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon said today the United States cannot afford "a truly significant reduction in the total amount of our tax bill" in the immediate future.

Dillon argued that the tax burden which inspires many complaints really isn't as burdensome as many claim; that five of the country's faster-growing allies bear even heavier burdens.

In a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the Tax Executives Institute, Dillon said that although tax rates can be cut, total tax payments cannot be reduced.

Discussing the broad tax reform proposal which President Kennedy will send the Congress later this year, with a view to enactment in 1963, Dillon said: "Our aim is to reduce tax rates for all by eliminating the special tax privileges of some—all at the same time maintaining the revenues needed to fulfill our national commitments."

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN

Cold Does Not Spawn Colds

Despite conclusive proof that the common cold and related upper respiratory infections are caused by viruses, the belief continues to prevail that temperatures or to drafts or both.

It is often the custom to overdress and overbundle children so that, on going outdoors, they are scarcely able to waddle, much less exercise. What little sunshine there is exerts its beneficial effects on no more than a few square inches of face.

All this does not protect against respiratory infection and, by weakening their defense mechanisms, it may even increase their liability to virus invasion.

RECENT STUDIES made on our troops stationed in Alaska and Greenland are of interest. Although I'll confess I'm delighted I was not one of those tested, measurements of shivering, oxygen consumption and skin and rectal temperatures were made after exposure of nude subjects to a predetermined degree of cold. After 52 days of winter maneuvers in Alaska and 43 days in Greenland, the tests were repeated to determine how the men fared under these trying climatic conditions.

Except for the shivering response, none of the other factors tested showed any significant effect, but shivering was reduced 50 per cent in the Alaskan subjects and 80 per cent in the Greenlanders.

NO ONE, so far as reported, developed a cold or any other respiratory infection as a result of testing. Even the most ardent supporter of the cold theory for colds must admit that standing nude in an arctic winter ought to bring on a cold if cold alone can do it. As to the reduction in the shivering response, I can only regard that as a positive accomplishment, indicative of an improved reaction to climatic conditions of such severity that I shiver just thinking about them.

None of this, I'm sure, will prevent mothers from swathing their youngsters in layers and layers of woollens, covered over with sweaters and coats, and topped off by mufflers and caps with earflaps and brims that extend over the eyebrows.

Signatures Needed On Political Ads

The County Election Board today reminded candidates and committees of a new state law that became effective in October 1961, requiring specific identification of persons responsible for political literature and advertisements.

The law requires the "chairman, secretary or person responsible" to sign both his name and home address to any political literature which is issued, Frank O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, pointed out. The law applies to sample ballots, which many candidates distribute to advertise their races, he added.

O'Hanlon said the law also applies to committees which circulate arguments pro and con on bond issues, tax levies and other questions appearing on the ballot. However, a candidate is not required to place his address on literature which he issues to promote his own race, O'Hanlon added.

Law provides a fine of from $300 to $2,000 for a violation. The law was in effect for the first time for the November 1961 general election campaign.

Meanwhile, the Election Board has notified men and women who are candidates for precinct committee posts and who also serve as precinct election officials that they cannot serve in the same polling place in which the ballot lists them as a candidate, O'Hanlon said. Should a person serve under such circumstances, the election would be invalidated, he pointed out.

Little Space Required for Mud Room

Most everyone knows what a "mud room" is. If not, the name gives a strong clue.

A mud room is any enclosed area leading into a home where family members can wash their hands, take off wet or dirty boots and shoes, and maybe even take a full shower if gardening, energetic snow shoveling or exuberant playtime make it desirable.

Most every home has space for a mud room. It can be just a sink in the corner of the garage for instance. The utility room, too, is ready-made for such a purpose.

The mud room is fast becoming a special part of many newly built homes. In this case, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, it is often a small bathroom, with lavatory, water closet and shower, built adjacent to the kitchen or garage.

The man of the family has been known to insist, though, that it be near his workshop or do-it-yourself area.

Wherever it is located, access should be as close to an outside door as possible. Any qualified advice on how to arrange the best possible mud room for any home.

In and About Our Schools

School Clubs Meet

"Don't Be a Litterbug" was the theme of the program when members of the Junior Garden Club of Prospect Street School met Monday afternoon, and the Fourth Street School club met Tuesday, under the sponsorship of the Salem Garden Club.

Club members made litter-bags and were instructed in forced blooming of flowering shrub and fruit branches, viewing a display provided by the committee.

Mrs. George Perrault Jr. and Mrs. E. Ralph Martin were in charge of the program at Prospect and Mrs. Jack Rance and Mrs. Karl Zellers at Fourth Street School.

The Prospect club will meet again April 9 and Fourth Street April 10.

Building Permits

Two building permits were issued last week by Salem Zoning Officer F. S. Barckhoff, Jr.

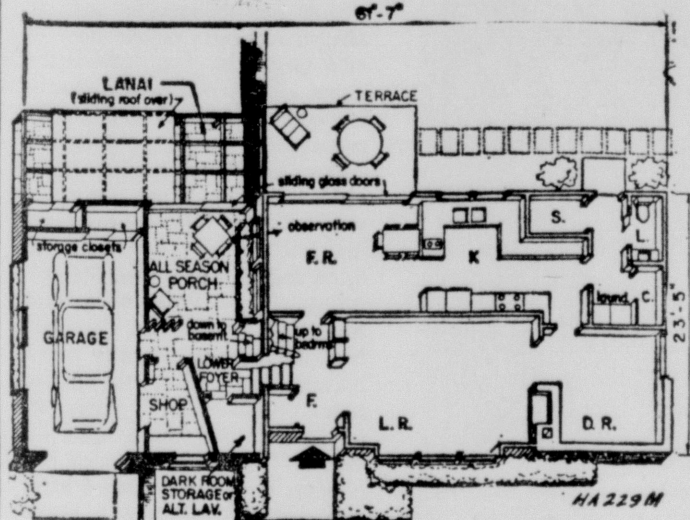

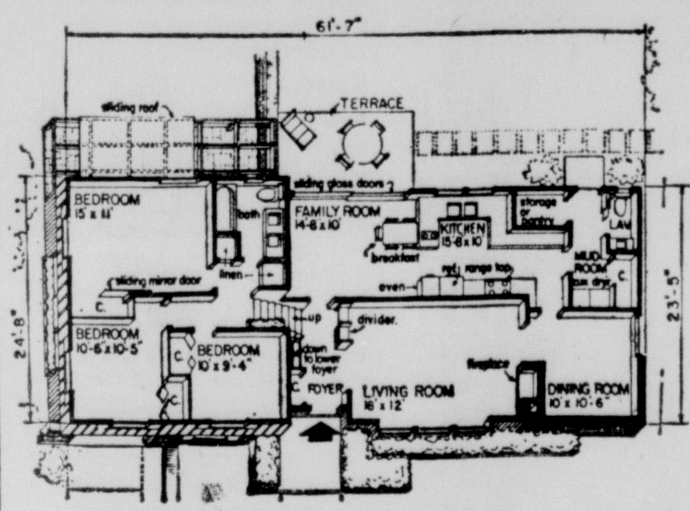

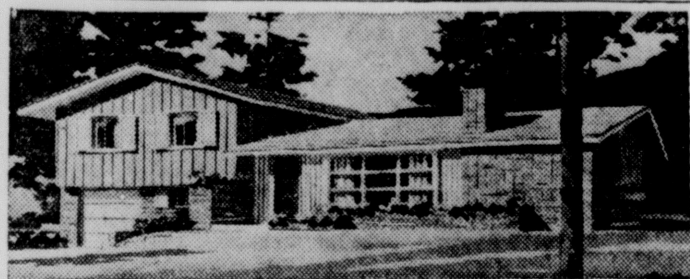

Obtaining the permits were: John R. Fisher, to repair front of 192-196 E. State St., $350.

K. G. Rogers, to repair walls and floors at Salem Tool Co., 767 S. Ellsworth Ave., $2,000.

With the Students

Linda Keck of Salem has been elected secretary of the Mount Union College chapter of Delta Delta Delta.

The junior psychology major is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Keck of 980 Franklin Ave. She is also a member of the Dynamo Association, and has served on the staff of the college newspaper as business manager for two years.

GEM OF LIVABILITY — Split level allows the bedroom area of this house to be "zoned" for quiet by a half flight of stairs. Front foyer, rear service and porch entrances keep tracking of outdoor dirt to a minimum. Neatness is further advanced by inside and outside storage closets in the garage and location of the shop where implements will not have to be carried through the house. Square footage of plan HA229M is 1,436, plus a 273-square-foot garage. Rudolph A. Matern, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 32, N. Y., is the architect.

Outdoor Living Atmosphere Added to Home by Sundeck

If your home does not have the "outdoor living" atmosphere you have been hearing so much about, you can achieve it with the addition of a sundeck. It may be built adjacent to the house or in a board-on-board pattern, grill-garage; on the ground or on stilts; simple or elaborate as a family's needs and resources dictate. And where outdoor living already is a part of the home's overall architectural scheme, it can be incorporated, such as a sundeck adjoining a swimming pool.

Solid lumber has many virtues as a good material for a sundeck. It can be used for the decking itself, for the supports, for wind screens and for the roof, if required. While some persons prefer that the sundeck be just that, completely exposed to the sun at all times, others want a partial roof where they can take advantage of shade.

The placement of the sundeck and the incorporation of protective screens and the like depend upon three factors: existing landscaping, property lines and the direction of the sun's rays and prevailing winds.

Perhaps the windward side of the deck should be sheltered. Protection can be achieved via a distinctive lumber screen along the windward side of the deck. By using a latticework design, vertical or horizontal louvers, or a basket weave for the screen, you can get protection without totally cutting off the supply of light and air.

The contour of the land often determines whether the sundeck should be raised off the ground. On sloping terrain, a raised sundeck is an easy way of providing a flat surface where none naturally exists. If the sundeck is not to be raised, however, the Western Pine Association suggests that the wood be thoroughly treated with a "penta" (pentachlorophenol) preservative wherever it is to come into direct contact with the ground.

From a decorative point of view, there are a variety of decking installations which may be chosen for a sundeck. Decking may be installed flat, on end, in parallel lines, diagonally, in a herringbone pattern or in a parquet-like design. The latter may be created by using squares of 2 by 4s alternating in checkerboard fashion over a foundation of 2 by 4 strips. Further variety may be achieved by building a series of decks on different levels, each devoted to a particular activity.

much moisture as it could hold at a certain temperature, the relative humidity is 50 per cent. Change the temperature and you also change the humidity—since warm air can hold more moisture than cold air.

Dry air—when the relative humidity is too low—robs moisture from everything it touches. That's why wood shrinks, wallpaper cracks and veneer peels. Since our bodies are composed principally of moisture, we also are victims of too little humidity. Respiratory ailments and itchy skin conditions often are attributed to this condition. Another effect is a chilly feeling even when the temperature in the house is 75 degrees or higher. That's because, when the relative humidity is low, water evaporates quickly from the skin.

WHILE A LACK OF humidity occurs in some areas as a fairly general condition, it is most prevalent during the winter in heated homes. Grandma might not have known the technical details, but she had the right idea in the old days when she placed pans of water on radiators. As the water got hot and moved into the air as steam, Grandma was adding moisture to the air and raising the relative humidity.

Today, there are many different types of humidifiers available to the householder bothered with a lack of humidity. One of the most effective ways to solve the problem is by installing a compact humidifying unit in the furnace. This automatically puts vapor into the warm air stream to keep the occupants of the house comfortable no matter what the outside and inside temperatures are.

Here's Advice on Perking Up Home Entrance Way

No matter how lovely its overall design every home vitally needs a gracious entrance way to deliver the final touch of beauty and hospitality.

For the average house, the exterior entrance way is simply its front walk. And when that front walk is merely a patch of concrete lying between the front door and street, results are apt to be pretty dull.

Now, how can some life be injected into that patch of concrete? Elementary, my friend, with bold lines that lead the eye along the walkway right up to the doorbell.

One of the easiest ways to perk up an ordinary front walk is to outline it with a fence or screen. Usually, this fence is purely decorative in character and should be designed to harmonize with the home's architecture.

A low fence fashioned of spaced slats, louvers, or pickets, per-

Why Do They Do It to Us?

There are Russians talking sweet in Geneva, and Russians falling sour in Potsdam.

In Geneva they are half-heartedly going through the motions of a conference on how to stop the international armament race.

In Potsdam they are whole-heartedly going through the motions of starting a war with the Western Allies over aerial access routes to Berlin.

Any reasonable guess would have to be that they mean what they are doing in the Berlin corridors and are playing tricks in Geneva. They have no intention of stopping the international armament race. They want it to go on and on and on.

They feel this way because they are in control of their participation in the race and the other contestants aren't in control. The race is to their advantage and to the disadvantage of the other participants.

THANKS TO their "iron curtain" of secrecy about what they are really doing, the Soviet Union can run as fast as it wants to run, while goading its rivals into running faster and faster by keeping up a bombardment of outright lies and half-truths.

It knows the Western Allies, especially the United States, will believe the worst anyway, so it encourages them. And most carefully does it guard the useful illusion that it cannot agree to international inspection because it needs to hide its strength, when what it probably wants to hide is its weakness.

This is the same Russia that needed U.S. help in World War II — the same famine-ridden country that lost millions by starvation after and during World War I — the country whose premier makes no secret of the fact hunger is the constant companion of communism.

Why, then, do Russians keep raising the hope of international agreement, only to strike it to the ground and grind it under their heel? What causes them to put on a show of hostility in Berlin at the same time they are going through the motions of negotiation in Geneva?

The answer almost certainly is to be found in what is known about the technique of brain-washing, developed more highly by Russians than anybody else. It was first discovered by a Russian scientist, Ivan Pavlov.

PAVLOV demonstrated it was possible to break down the behavior of living creatures into predictable patterns. His work with conditioned reflexes made it possible to carry out projects in predetermining behavior in humans as well as in lower animals.

One of the projects demonstrated that if every act meets with frustration and rebuff the victim ultimately loses his ability to initiate any action at all; he merely waits helplessly for the next disappointment.

To the extent that many Americans are expressing deep concern over U.S. inability to seize the initiative in the contest with the Soviet Union, is Pavlov being proved the real strong man of the Soviet Union — the genius who showed how to shatter the will of the West by thwarting it with endless frustrations?

Wouldn't Even Need to Be Nuclear

There were no nuclear bombs dropped in World War II, except the two used against Hiroshima and Nagasaki by the United States.

Yet some of the most horrible deaths imaginable occurred in bombed cities, some in Japan where the United States was un-ing in its reliance on fire bombs. A book currently being circulated "The Night Hamburg Died," describes what happened in the big German seaport when huge fires raged out of control.

It isn't the nuclear bomb that should be feared most if the human race resumes mass murder but fires caused by all kinds of bombs, including the newest and largest nuclear bombs. There would be no sure protection against them and certainly no protection whatever in underground shelters, due to a principle known to every outdoorsman and old-time locomotive fireman.

Heat is radiated downward more powerfully than it is radiated upward and sideways. Outdoorsmen bake fish by wrapping them and placing them underground on the site of a campfire. Old-time locomotive firemen knew the quickest way to start a blaze was to ignite kindling on top of the man body of fuel—the same principles employed in underfloor boilers.

Humans who sought safety underground would be roasted alive in a wartime firestorm like the great ones that ravaged Tokyo and Hamburg. They would survive the nuclear blast only to be killed more painfully another way.

But what if there were no firestorm? The fact is no one knows how to stop a firestorm, whether started with a nuclear blast, napalm bomb, common in World War II, Mrs. O'Leary's cow, or San Francisco's earthquake-ruptured gas pipes. There is only one way to survive, and it is not by going underground. It is to leave the scene before the temperature soars above 1,000 degrees and all oxygen is burned out of the air by a conflagration so complete it consumes everything.

A man without much principle never draws much interest from others.

You can tell by a person's eyes when he's been out late the night before. It's in the bags.

The best way for love to be blind is in overlooking little irritating things.

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Astronauts have invested heavily in million dollar motel at Cocoa Beach and in Grand Bahamas and Washington project. (You can't keep those boys out of dangerous exploits.)

Real estate can be profitable but it is not without many perils, against some of which, no cone, escape hatch or instrument panel can be much help. Re-entry from motel and hotel back into zone of safety and comfort can be a problem. No airplane carrier, helicopter or cruiser is of any use in rescue proceedings should things turn out badly.

Expert hotel and financial men are behind astronauts and everything seems to favor the success for which everybody hopes. However there are moments in most building and operational proceedings in which a man can be made dizzier than by three trips around the globe.

A man seldom feels more weightless, for example, than in an argument with contractors over added costs. Journey through title searches, blueprints, mortgage arrangements, etc., is often a tough one, even for heroes.

Business operations can impose additional worries on astronauts, cool as they are and can bring back the message "everything line up here. How are things down there in the investment world?"

Let us hope there is no such exchange of messages between outer space and the earth as the following:

Astronaut: Am 20 miles up, but have yet to penetrate height of steel, lumber and concrete prices.

Cape: Keep mind on your work and trust to oxygen tanks.

Astronaut: Twenty five miles in air and approaching architect's fees.

Cape: You're exploring outer space not inner financial problems.

Astronaut: Now in weightless zone. Just held out a bottle of food capsules and it floated. Held out last bill from building contractor and it sank.

Cape: Lights will go on for you over Perth, Australia.

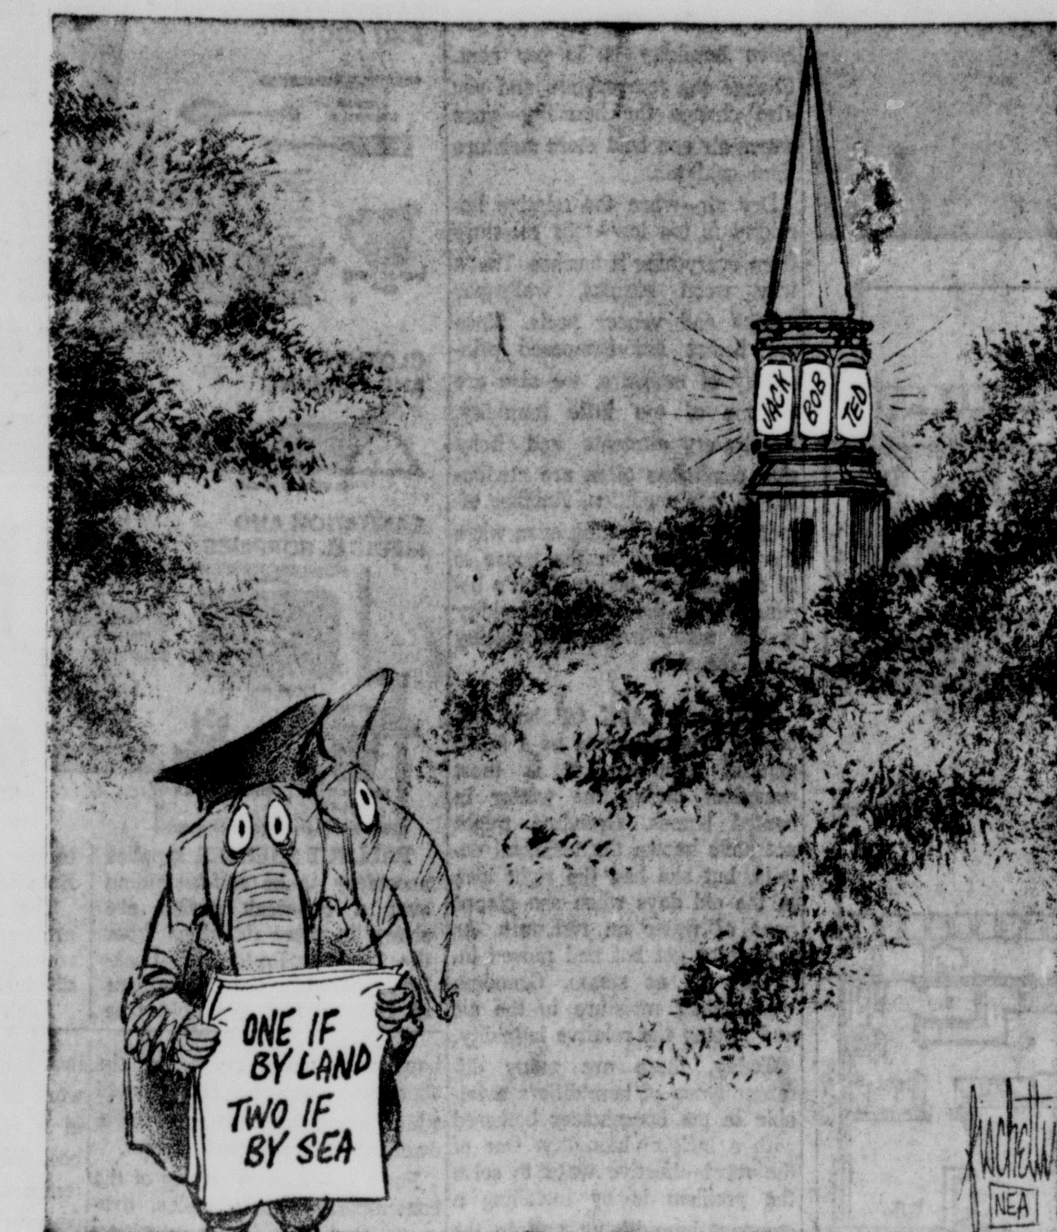

Astronaut: I'd feel better if they went on for me over Grand Bahamas and Florida motels.

Edward Kennedy, just past 30th birthday, proved to have extra appealing personality on recent TV show. He is as good looking as the President. And real keen. Also has good sense of humor. When asked if he didn't think there was an excess of Kennedys in government picture he replied: "If there is any feeling there are too many Kennedys, it should have been taken up long ago with my parents."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

WICHITA, KAN. There is no more chance of the Sino-Soviet bloc dumping its arms into the ocean than there is of my winning the Lenin Peace Prize — with ribbons. But the Soviet chairman, despite his personal opinion is not immortal and may go the way of all flesh and even Stalin. Remotely, it is possible a successor might disarm. If he does and we do, this nation of ours will see the most vast unemployment since the Pyramids were finished.

Victor Riesel

After rolling thousands of miles across the Midwest—it is brutal to report—this country is not ready for an easing of the cold war. It is not even ready for a spring thaw.

Disarmament would throw some 7½ million out of work almost overnight. If you reckon they support even small families, the end of rocketry and chemical warfare production and missile site construction and maintenance would effect some 20 million—at least. Very few communities appear to be taking this as seriously as they do here in Wichita.

Here I'm informed that some 72 per cent of all manufacturing jobs in the community depend on the missile and aircraft industries—or component parts—that mysterious phase which describes the wizardry of what goes inside the multi-million-dollar aircraft and rockets.

Here the changes are put into the B-52s, on which new production will "phase out" completely in July. Even now the Boeing plant is almost entirely a "modification" installation.

THE MACHINISTS union people tell me they have some 22,000 workers in this city. They had more. Here also are located installations for the repair and maintenance of Air Force craft, and the smaller Cessna and Beech commercial plane builders. They have some military sub-contracts.

Some of the Wichita labor people and the Chamber of Commerce teamed up. They raised $100,000 to study chances for shifting this city from intense dependence on "war" orders to diversified production.

You don't find much of this forethought in many areas of the land.

On the highways, you crisscross the trails of the "boomers"—the men who roll over the countryside in trailers or dusty cars seeking the Atlas and Titan and Minuteman construction camps.

Nobody really knows how many of them there are, nor how many permanently placed skilled workers are on the rocket sites. Some say 30,000. But what happens to them after the bases are neat little camouflaged steel and concrete underground nests? What happens when we finish the 800 silos? What happens if we disarm just a little?

NOBODY SEEMS to be whipping up peacetime projects on the drawing boards. Everybody is taking for granted that the $52 billion annual defense budget will irrigate the land's economy forever.

And well they may—if the taxes hold up. But what if the military payrolls and procurement ease off because some very bright neo-Khrushchev dumps some of his arms and convinces us to dump ours—as once the West dumped its fleets.

What happens when the Pentagon starts slashing its payroll—now $11 billion annually. This is more than twice the annual payroll of the entire auto industry. And it doesn't all go for soldiers. Secretary McNamara employs almost one million civilians.

Of the 7½ million men and women earning a living directly out of the military and civilian defense network, about four million work for private companies. In some communities the proportion of defense production is even higher than in Wichita.

It's time for blunt talk and sharp thinking. Nobody wants war. Nobody wants rocketry to roll us into bankruptcy. And there are a lot of very valuable and highly audible men taking the stump to demand disarmament. Amongst these are a contingent of labor leaders.

Yet only a handful of them have taken the lead in launching operations such as the Wichita combination to prepare for the day peace breaks out—be it this month in Geneva or the next decade somewhere.

That happy prospect unfortunately, is a long way off. But there is nothing like foresight to prevent hindsight from giving us all a headache.

The U.S. Image

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Jackie Giving Indians Wrong Impression?

The image of America which other countries are being given today is marked by some unwitting distortions.

Is Jacqueline Kennedy, for instance, giving to the people of India the true image of present day America, particularly in its profound sympathy for the hungry and the sick and for the tens of thousands who sleep nightly in the streets of India's cities for lack of homes?

The image that the people of a foreign land form about America too often is concerned with our wealth, our millionaires and our alleged emphasis on the luxuries of a privileged class. This is the image of America that Communists constantly try to give in their propaganda.

The news dispatches from abroad this week tell a graphic story of the visit to India by the gracious and well-mannered "first lady of the United States." An Associated Press item from New Delhi, for instance, describes Mrs. Kennedy as a "pretty young horsewoman from the White House" who took the jumps on an Indian riding course as a diversion "in a day of such unfamiliar things as feeding a baby elephant and watching a snake charmer pipe a swaying cobra from a basket."

The U.S. ambassador later reported to newsmen that Mrs. Kennedy in her riding exhibition had outdone some of the best lancers in the Indian president's horse guard, who watched in unconcealed admiration.

There is talk now of a visit to India next summer by President and Mrs. Kennedy. Is India's government deserving of all this attention? How does the news of these happenings affect the American people who are being asked to put up their tax money for foreign aid?

President Kennedy in his news conference last Wednesday said that members of Congress make "vigorous speeches against Communism and call for a policy of victory," but do not want to go along with the foreign aid program of nearly $5 billion proposed by the administration to fight communism.

There is an old habit among Americans of asking what is going to be done with their tax money. The President really isn't convincing Congress that the billions in foreign aid will accomplish the victory of which he speaks.

ALMOST EVERYONE in Congress, of course, would be for foreign aid if there were any degree of certainty that the money would be of some avail and would help to defeat international communism but the news from India itself has been far from good. Prime Minister Nehru is all smiles as Mrs. Kennedy visits his country and is entertained there. Naturally, it is of political value to Mr. Nehru to give the impression to his people that the United States likes India and will continue to pour out its billions even if India keeps on with its "non-alignment" policies.

Fortunately, the American press prints the news—and what has been happening in India indicates that the victory over communism is more remote than ever.

Within the last few weeks, a national election has been held there. Nehru's party has won out.

The support from the Communist side was noticeable, especially as Krishna Menon, arch-foe of the United States, won the biggest victory of all.

He is defense minister in Nehru's Cabinet and, although occasionally denying that he is a Communist, plays the Communist side of the same right along, especially in the United Nations and behind the scenes in Europe and Asia.

Menon's opponent took him "over the jumps" for his pro-Communist attitude, but it was in vain. Communist support was strong enough to give Menon the victory. Prime Minister Nehru, who campaigned for him, never seems to be able to shake loose from the so-called "intellectual" influence Menon has exerted over him for many years.

ALSO, NOT SO LONG ago the Nehru government suddenly brushed aside negotiations and by military force seized the ancient territory of Goa, which had been held by Portugal for centuries. The United States government didn't express its horror over this, though the American press did. The United States possibly has lost the friendship of Portugal, a member of NATO, whose agreement to let this country retain a naval and air base in the Azores is up for renewal and now has been jeopardized.

The President in his statement oversimplified the position of many members of Congress who oppose his foreign-aid program. Most of them are in favor of the principle of foreign aid but they don't believe in wasting the taxpayers' money on governments which "are taking America for a ride."

There is every reason for expressing a humanitarian desire to help the hundreds of millions of unfortunate human beings in India. But the real point is whether a blind extension of financial aid, without any program that really offers the promise of attaining our objectives, should be authorized.

India's government carries on intimate relations with the Communist regime in the Soviet Union, which considers Nehru a valuable ally.

America's current policy is to tolerate all this as "neutrality" but the American people like "neutrality," too—at least for their dollars. They would prefer "non-alignment" with any country that is tied up with the Communists to the point where the latter's apparatus—controlled from Moscow—can play an influential part in any outside election.

Too Young to Know

By TRUMAN TWILL

Many wives are fluttering their pennants over a report they will be systematically graded on their suitability for helping their husbands make the right impression in touchy assignments.

We suspect most of them, though, are reconciled to a practice that has been going on for years unsystematically. We feel sure the smart ones know why the practice is necessary.

A navy wife, like an Army wife, an Air Force wife, or any other wife is part of the image her husband makes on an observant public. It may be sad but it's true the world is full of men who have amounted to something and the girls they married when they were too young to know what they were doing.

To keep the proposition straight, it's also full of career women and the boys they married before they knew better, but this is the lesser part of the problem of the suitability of spouses that now furrows the brows of big shots who must find the right couples for tough situations.

As often as not the big shots had to learn the hard way why the problem is ticklish, because of problems with their own wives. It goes like this:

A man who holds a certain position is assumed to have certain qualities that fitted him for it. It would never do to be reminded by his marriage to a woman with no dignity, no taste, no poise and no savvy that the big shots made a botch of the most important assignment of his own life.

It happens all the time but when it does happen it's contrary to the rules of the game—an exception. As society becomes ever more closely organized, it will need to pay closer attention all the time to the suitability of spouses.

Some rules to follow: Always look at her eyes. If they remind you of a cow, you are marrying a cow. Moo.

Pay attention to the appearance and characteristics of the parents. Chances are a girl will resemble her mother when she reaches her mother's age, give or take 40 pounds and half a dozen characteristics, and the same is true of a boy and his father. Horrible but true.

See how she handles housekeeping when she doesn't know she is under scrutiny. If she lives like a pig, it's an odds-on bet she will reveal other characteristics of the breed. Oink.

Give her the hardship test. The purpose is to find out if she's attractive with the curl gone from her hair, her makeup washed off, her comfort taken away and under temptation to blame someone else. Take her camping and get caught in a storm.

Check her out with a panel of inspectors — your best friend, your sister, the girl who married the other guy, your father, someone off the street. Make them vote by secret ballot on whether or not this is the girl they think a man could marry without misgivings.

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Our quotable notables: "The art of government consists in taking as much money as possible from one class of citizens to give to the other."—Voltaire.

Science-marches-on note: Laboratory researchers are working on these products—an automobile fuel made from vegetable derivatives, noiseless paper bags for noisy movie popcorn eaters, and (shades of Babe Ruth!) a metal baseball bat made of plastic-coated magnesium.

History lesson: It has been said that ministers' sons often are ne'er-do-wells. But three became U.S. presidents. They were Chester A. Arthur, Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson.

There is a bit of truth in the old saying, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away." Apples are the only common fruit which protects the alimentary canal against attacks of both constipation and diarrhea.

Left-handedness: The odds are about one in 16 that your baby will turn out to be a southpaw.

Wise-crack of the week: Orson Bean, star of "Subways Are For Sleeping," gives this definition of modern chivalry: "When a man races a woman for a subway seat—and she wins."

The good old days: The first successful gasoline-powered motor car was made by Carl Benz of Germany in 1886. It had three final growth.

Nature notes: The size of an animal's antlers doesn't indicate its age—just the quantity and quality of its food supply. Earthworms crawl by means of small bristles which give them a "foot-hold". Frogs sometimes suffer from "athlete's foot," even as you and I.

It was Abraham Lincoln who observed, "After all, the one meaning of life is to be kind."

Miss Takayo Kinoshita of Japan, foreign exchange student at Salem High School, was hostess over the weekend when nine exchange students were entertained here. Mrs. George Rogers assisted with the party at the Lehwald home Saturday evening. The foreign exchange students stayed overnight at the homes of Mrs. Alfons Falkenstein, Mrs. Hyman Chentow, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Ewing, Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Smith, Rev. and Mrs. William Longworth, Mrs. George Earley, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hone, Mr. and Mrs. Lehwald and Mr. and Mrs. Rogers.

Boyd

"What d'ya say," Atty. Ben Berman, defense counsel, asked, "Did he act any different after he saw her? Under answered, "He acted like he was ashamed—would rather not have seen her."

Prosecutor G. William Brokaw questioned Unger about coffee served later at the party and asked him if Boyd knew where they were going. "Yes sir, he knew we were going to Higgs," Robert S. S. of Midland Heights, also at the party, told of heavy drinking under questioning by Atty. Robert Kapp, co-defense counsel.

Hanging over the impending testimony from Boyd is the 26-page statement he gave to authorities Nov. 21.

In it he told of meeting his wife outside her home, driving around, for a while and then going to the lonely muddy lane along the creek.

There, he said in the statement, he threw a jack handle at her knocking her down. Then he dragged her over the hillside and fired a shotgun at her head, the statement read.

Police said Larry D. DeJane, 19, of 542 E. School St., and Anetta R. Pitcar, 69, of 346 W. 10th St., both had stopped their cars for a red traffic light when Mrs. Davis ran into the rear of the other woman's car which in turn was shoved into DeJane's auto.

No one was hurt but all three vehicles were damaged.

Accidents

No one was hurt in a three-car mishap on Rt. 14, near Unity at 9:30 p.m. Saturday. Drivers involved in the chain-reaction type accident were Richard Lemley, 36, of East Palestine, Fred D. Bixby, also of East Palestine, and John Shriver, 42, of Duncansville, Pa.

According to the Patrol, Shriver ran into the rear of Bixby's car which in turn was shoved into Lemley's auto. Shriver was arrested for failing to stop within the assured clear distance.

Cars operated by Susan Zaugg, 22, of East Rochester, and Clark Criss, 25, of Kensington, collided on Rt. 30, two-tenths mile west of Hanoverton, at 5:35 p.m. Saturday.

The East Rochester woman was cited for driving left of center. The Patrol said her west-bound car went across the center line and struck Criss' auto which was traveling east.

May McGee, 37, of Lisbon and Henry V. Kohler, 84, of North Lima were involved in a two-car mishap on Rt. 164, just south of Columbiana, at 10:45 a. m. Saturday. The Patrol said Kohler ran into the rear of the other vehicle which had stopped for a traffic light.

Rapist-Robber Sought by Police

Mahoning County sheriff's deputies are continuing their search today for a rapist-robber who attacked a saleswoman and then made off with $39 from a model home site on Rt. 62 between Salem and Alliance Saturday afternoon.

Lt. Orlando Dilullo of the sheriff's department, investigating officer in the case, reported the assailant entered the model home at about 2 p.m. and waited until a customer departed before getting a sales representative, John R. Bakes of Alliance, to go into the basement.

There the robber pulled a gun and forced Baker to hand over his wallet containing $4. Baker was then ordered to strip and was locked in the fruit cellar.

Meanwhile a saleswoman returned from lunch, encountering the bandit on the first floor of the house. She too was led into the basement on the pretense of viewing the house. There the bandit raped her and took $35 from her wallet.

Remodeled Farm Home Uses Flameless Electric Heat

The Wilbert D. Skinn, R. D. No. 2 Dublin Road, Norwalk, Ohio, completely remodeled their home, adding a kitchen and family room, and installed flameless electric heat.

Flameless electric heat is a fast, easy and economical method of heating a new or remodeled living area, because it needs no ducts, pipes, chimney or flue, registers or radiators. It's the ideal solution when adding a room, enclosing a breezeway, remodeling an older home, or replacing a heating system.

Mrs. Skinn says... "We are satisfied with our electric heat. With small children on the floor, it is a great satisfaction to know that they are warm, and won't be catching colds. It is hard to realize that we are having sub-zero weather, when it's like summer inside."

Before you build, buy or remodel, investigate the extra advantages of flameless electric home heating. For complete information, call your nearby Ohio Edison office

The electric way is the only new way to heat your home since time began, because it's flameless.

Pastor Gives New Twist To Old-Fashioned Rummage Sale

PERU, Ill. (AP)—A minister in this Northern Illinois town has given a new twist to the old-fashioned rummage sale and hopes his variation will grow into a nationwide effort to help foreign missionaries.

The Rev. Ralph Burlingham, pastor of the Peru Congregational Church, suggests churches and individuals collect discarded but usable medical equipment—outmoded X-ray machines, operating tables, needles, syringes and the like—and ship them to remote areas where churchmen tell him they are needed sorely.

He is convinced such equipment is in good supply in hospital storerooms across the country and with hardly any effort at all, he has collected a couple of cast-off operating tables and an operating room light originally valued at $5,300.

A chance observation of a new X-ray machine in his home town hospital and an article he read in a church publication gave the Rev. Mr. Burlingham his idea.

The article, written by Dr. Ben Herbst, president of the United Church of Christ, described the lack of equipment in overseas mission stations and hospitals.

What happened to the local hospital's old X-ray machine? The Rev. Mr. Burlingham wondered when he read the article.

A telephone call established that the old machine was junked after the new equipment was installed. He then broadened his survey to determine what equipment was wanted and what was available.

He fired off letters to 13 mission doctors. He visited or made telephone calls to hospitals in central Illinois and Chicago. He contacted the Church World Service Agency of the National Council of Churches to learn what was being done along that line.

Typical of the list of needs was the reply from Dr. Hale Henry Cook, a missionary in India.

He needed any hospital utensils of stainless steel, operating room tables with standard adjustments, bedside locker tables, steel cabinets, one-use needles, syringes, intravenous tubing sets, X-ray cassettes, adjustable over-bed tables, portable, battery-operated electrocardiograph, repairable operating room instruments of stainless steel and stretchers.

The Illinois minister already has received offers of cooperation from two hospitals in Chicago and three in downstate Illinois.

He also found that the United Church of Christ participates in a plan sponsored by the National Council of Churches whereby the United States government pays for the transportation of such supplies from port to port.

He said he learned that Church World Service, an agency of the National Council of Churches, will crate and waterproof supplies for overseas missions and deliver them to the pier from any of their warehouses.

They Walked With Christ

ANDREW

"One of the two which heard John speak, and followed him, was Andrew, Simon Peter's brother."

—John 1:40

Andrew, like his brother Simon Peter, was a fisherman residing in the town of Bethsaida on the shore of Galilee.

A follower of John the Baptist, by whom he was directed to Jesus, he at once recognized the Nazarene as the Messiah, and hastened to conduct Simon to Him.

In the Gospel lists of the Twelve, he is always named among the first four who were called to discipleship.

The Scriptural narrative indicates that during Jesus' ministry, Andrew was a constant companion. He was present at the Last Supper; he was among the group of disciples to whom Jesus appeared after His resurrection; he witnesses the Ascension; and he shared in the glories of Pentecost.

Although he, like almost all the others of the Twelve, did not show open revolt during the trial and crucifixion of his Master, Andrew apparently did not lack courage.

Ancient writers say that he went as a missionary through Syria and adjoining countries, an undertaking which, in those days involved not only the usual hazards of travel, but the likelihood of arousing the wrath of pagan rulers who mercilessly put to death the preachers of the new doctrine of Christianity.

Andrew's travels are said to have taken him through Thrace, Macedonia, Cappadocia, Galatia, Bithynia and Achaia. It is conjectured that he founded a church in Constantinople, but there is no conclusive historical record of his having done so.

Most historians agree that his career had its tragic end at Patrae, a city of Achaia. There the proconsul, Aegeus, outraged by Andrew's preaching, ordered him to offer a sacrifice to the pagan gods. The Apostle refused, whereupon the Roman governor had him scourged and crucified.

To make his death more painful, he was bound rather than nailed to the cross (commonly held to be in the shape of an X). After hanging in agony for two days, he is said to have died on Nov. 30, A.D. 60.

Later he came to be revered as the chief patron of both Russia and Scotland.

East Tech, Ayersville Continue As Tourney Favorites

Both Unbeaten, Have Poise As Past Champs

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A pair of two-time champions, tutored by tournament-tested teachers, are favored to take Ohio's high school basketball titles this weekend.

They are Cleveland East Tech, winner of the 1958 and 1959 Class AA crowns, and Ayersville's Pilots, Class A kings in 1957 and 1961.

Six other qualifiers will have a lot to say about it, but Ohio's sports editors picked the two unbeaten powerhouse as No. 1 in their divisions at the end of the regular campaign — and nothing has happened along the tournament trail to change the choices.

East Tech, making its fifth straight trip to the state finals, is being brought here by Coach Joe Howell for the third time. Howell has compiled a 67-5 record in three seasons, two of the losses being on the St. John Arena floor. Third time's the charm, he hopes.

Pilots Win Last 57 Games

Ayersville, under two-time coach of the year Lee Himmenger, is in the big playoff for the third time in six seasons — and both previous appearances were winning ones. The Pilots have a 27-game winning streak for 1962 and 57 over the last two seasons.

Warriors Close In On NBA Finals

By The Associated Press
The Philadelphia Warriors, hurrying toward a long-awaited crack at the champion Boston Celtics, can reach that point in the National Basketball Association playoffs tonight with a victory over Syracuse's worn-out Nats.

Upset by the Nats last season, the Warriors took a commanding 2-0 lead in the current best-of-five series in the Eastern Division semifinals playoffs with an easy 97-82 victory at Syracuse Sunday.

At the same time, the Detroit Pistons, beaten 129-107 by Cincinnati Saturday, turned the tables on the Royals for a 118-107 victory Sunday. It gave them a 2-1 edge in the best-of-5 Western Division series that will decide the opponent for Los Angeles, the division champion.

Wilt Chamberlain's 50-points a game average suffered a jolt when he was held to 28 by the Nats, but it was enough to make him the game's top scorer. Syracuse held a 27-26 lead after the first period but Philadelphia had built a 54-43 lead by halftime.

It was a battle at Detroit until the first minutes of the third quarter when a jumper by Don Ohl put the Pistons ahead 43-53 and Ray Scott followed with two quick baskets. Four Pistons hit for 20 or more points with Bailey Howell getting 27, Gene Shue 25, Scott 22 and Ohl 21.

Inexperienced Outfielder Looks Like Cubs' Phenom

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
The assorted coaches making up the brain trust for the managerless Chicago Cubs pondered today the rising stock of Lou Brock, 22-year-old outfielder hopeful battling for a berth in the majors after only one season of organized ball.

But that was quite a first year for the left-handed swinger from Monroe, La. He led the Class C Northern League with a .361 batting average and was No. 1 man in hits (181), doubles (33) and runs (117) while tying for the stolen base championship with 37.

Now he's playing the role of a phenom for the Cubs. He hit his second home run of the spring in a 5-1 exhibition triumph over Boston Saturday. Then he led the Chicagoans to a 6-5 victory over the Red Sox at Scottsdale Sunday with four singles and a triple in five trips.

Sixth In Row For Cubs

It was the sixth decision in succession for the Cubs—who lost their first three by one run—and left them atop the National League standings by a slight margin over Los Angeles. The Dodgers brought their record to 6-4 by beating Baltimore 5-1 at Miami.

The world champion New York Yankees remained in first place among American League clubs, extending their unbeaten streak to eight by shelling the Chicago White Sox 10-3 at Fort Lauderdale, Fla. The White Sox are second at 6-3.

In other games Sunday, San Francisco whipped Cleveland 4-1 at Tucson, Detroit walloped Cincinnati 12-6 at Tampa, Kansas City beat Pittsburgh 3-1 at Fort Myers, Minnesota defeated Washington 6-3 at Orlando, St. Louis edged Milwaukee 7-6 in 11 innings at Bradenton, Philadelphia nipped the New York Mets 3-2 at St. Petersburg and the Los Angeles Angels blasted Houston 14-8 in 11 innings at Apache Junction.

Dodgers Pitching Tough

The Dodgers, outthit by the Orioles 11-6, won it behind pitchers Johnny Podres, Larry Sherry and Ed Roebuck with Maury Wills driving in two runs and Wally Moon and Jim Gilliam one each. The Yankees kayoed White Sox

Bucks Eye Cincy Rematch; Prepare For Wake Forest

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Ohio State, just itching to get another crack at Cincinnati's basketball Bearcats for the national collegiate title, began taking aim on the rematch today by first zeroing in on Wake Forest.

The Buckeyes, who lost a 70-65 overtime thriller to Cincy a year ago for the title, meet with the torrid Deacons in the first game of the semifinal match this Friday night in Louisville's Freedom Hall.

Cincinnati, just as eager to make it two in a row over its intrastate rival, meets surprising UCLA in the nightcap. The winners play Saturday night for the title and it will be surprising if the Bucks and Bears are out.

While the week of waiting and wondering is going on, the fur will fly in New York National Invitation Tournament, picking up again Tuesday night with the last quarter-final pairing, Bradley, which came to the NIT after losing a playoff battle with Cincinnati for the Missouri Valley Conference's NCAA berth, takes on Duquesne and St. John's plays Holy Cross.

The winners will play each other in one semifinal game on Thursday night, while Loyola of Chicago and Dayton meet in the other game. Loyola smothered Temple 75-64 and Dayton's on-rushing Flyers easily defeated Houston 94-77 in quarterfinal games last Saturday night.

Both Bradley and St. John's drew byes, Duquesne, which beat the Braves only two weeks ago in a regular season game, defeated Navy 70-58 and Holy Cross edged Colorado State University 72-71 in first-round games.

The semifinal winners meet for the title on Saturday afternoon, in a game that will be televised nationally — NBC.

No sooner had Ohio State and Cincinnati reached their respective dressing rooms after the 1961 title game, than talk of a rematch began, and it has persisted all year. Now comes the weekend of decision.

The Buckeyes, with a 21-1 season record, took the NCAA Mid-East regional title at Iowa City on Saturday night with a 74-64 victory over Kentucky's young Wildcats as All-America Jerry Lucas collected 33 points and played his usual flawless floor game.

Cincinnati easily disposed of Colorado for the Midwest title, winning 73-46 at Manhattan, Kan. Paul Hogue, the giant center, scored 22 points as the Bearcats won their 16th in a row.

The two supposed sacrificial lambs—Wake Forest and UCLA—were far from unimpressive. The Deacons, behind All-America Len Chappell, whipped Villanova 79-69 for the Eastern regional title, and UCLA's Bruins put the clamps on Oregon State 88-69 for the Far West title.

The smaller colleges' two main titles were wrapped up over the weekend, with Mount St. Mary's getting the NCAA college division crown by beating Sacramento State 58-57 in overtime and Prairie View knocking off favored Westminster (Pa.) 62-53 for NAIA honors.

FEATHERED FRIEND — Rudy York is a three-quarter Cherokee, but the Red Sox are training in Scottsdale, Ariz., so the old home run hitting first baseman coaching the Boston club wears ornate Apache headdress.

U.S. Takes 3rd Place In World Hockey

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.

—The Swedish team take off today on the road back home with the World Amateur Ice Hockey Championship, a flock of other honors and every indication of being a selfish host in the title department of the 1963 tournament.

"We are going to be tough to beat," candidly said Swedish coach Arne Stromberg whose darkhorse squad whipped both Canada's defending titlists and the United States in a seven-game sweep of the 11-day meet.

"The Canadians, who finished second with a 6-1 record after trouncing the Americans 61 Sunday, and the Yanks, face a number of thorny problems in their quest to win the 1963 championship trophy.

The Canadians, still complaining over the officiating in their 5-3 key loss to Sweden, will see even more delicate calls made in Stockholm next March. Both the Canadians and the Americans prefer the rugged slambang style of play normal in North America.

The Europeans lean to precision passing and little if any body checking.

The Yanks finished third—an improvement over their sixth place finish in 1961—with a 5-2 record.

LEGAL NOTICE
Case No. 47955 J. S. Gleason, Jr., Successor in Office to Sumner, G. Whitaker, as Administrator of Veterans Affairs, vs. James W. Hamilton, et al.

James W. Hamilton, whose place of residence is at 1215 W. 12th St., notice that on February 1, 1962, the undersigned, J. S. Gleason, Jr., Successor in Office to Sumner, G. Whitaker, as Administrator of Veterans Affairs, filed his petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Columbiana County, Ohio, alleging that there is due the plaintiff the sum of $14,155.50 with interest at 5 1/2% from October 30, 1961, on a promissory note secured by a mortgage deed of even date conveying the following described property, to-wit:

Situated in the City of Salem, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio, and known as being Sub Lot No. 132 in Southeast Boulevard Allotment Section 4, a Subdivision of the Whinnery Road and extends back between parallel lines 145 feet on the easterly side, 145 feet on the westerly side and has a rear line of 60 feet as appears by said plat, be the same more or less, but subject to all legal highways.

The petition further alleges that by reason of the default of the defendant obligors in the payment of said note according to its tenor, the conditions of said mortgage deed has been broken and the same has become absolute.

The plaintiff prays that the defendant named above be required to answer and set up his interest in said real estate, or be forever barred from asserting the same, for foreclosure of said mortgage, marshalling liens and sale of said real estate, and proceeds of said sale applied to payment of plaintiff's claim in the proper order of priority, and for such others and further relief as is just and equitable.

The defendant named above is required to answer on or before the 7th day of May, 1962.

J. S. GLEASON, JR., Successor in Office to Sumner, G. Whitaker, as Administrator of Veterans Affairs.

It happened in the schools of Muskogee, Oklahoma, when 6,557 youngsters took simple tests to measure their physical fitness. Result: 3,043 failed.

But after only six weeks of supervised vigorous physical activity, 78.9 percent passed—and learned how much fun it is to exercise and keep fit.

Does your child's school have a supervised physical education program that gets the kids—boys and girls—to exercise vigorously at least 15 minutes every day?

If not, it's up to you to see that such a program is started. The sooner, the better. Act at your next PTA meeting!
